Gentlemen:

Enclosed herewith please find one (1) copy of a cost analysis indicating estimated costs in support of a proposal dated 22 June 1955 and captioned "Engineering Proposal for Miniature Infrared Communicator (Model C)." It is understood that the aforementioned technical proposal (two copies) was recently hand-carried to your offices by one of your representatives for evaluation.

The rates used herein for indirect expenses, with the exception of the rate used for General and Administrative expense, are the current negotiated rates for cost-type contracts approved by the Department of Defense (Navy Department). The rate used for General and Administrative expenses is based upon current experience and is the rate we are currently using for negotiated procurements.

It is not clearly understood if it is your intention to write a new research order under RD-54 or to write a new contract in the event an award is made based on this proposal. However, it would seem in the interest of simplicity to prepare a new research order embodying the aforementioned proposal rather than require the execution of a new basic contract.

This proposal shall remain firm in price for a period of forty-five (45) days from the date hereof. In the event any further information is needed, it is suggested that you notify [redacted] or the undersigned.

Very truly yours,
